WOMEN WAS WAR

Newspapers have been going their bit to awaken public consciousness to the dangers of evils of some homicidal and other forms of automobile driving, by running a series of articles telling the motorists what and what not to do.

What the effect has been I am unable to say, but sometimes I grow a little disheartened when I witness some of the alleged driving on the streets of Richmond. At such times I am almost persuaded that the traffic school should include all of our inhabitants. At that time I would not be a bad idea. If every man and woman who drives a car, was forced to demonstrate from time to time his capability so to do, no harm and much good would doubtless result.

Why a large section of the public attaches little or no importance to the subject is one of the things which will ever remain a mystery to me. People are being killed or maimed by the hundreds, yet if the person injured is not a relative or friend, we dismiss the item, which tells of the tragedy, from our mind as not even of passing importance.

I very much fear that the picture I have painted will have very little if any effect, but I am going to add some more dark colors in the hope by constant repetition the figures cited will ultimately have some beneficial result.

Here are two sets of figures: American army battle casualties in the World War, killed, 37,562; died of wounds, 12,542; wounded but not mortally, 182,674; total 232,778.

Accident casualties in the United States in 1935: killed, 99,000; permanently injured, 365,000; temporarily injured, 9,100,000; total 9,564,000.

In the most recent years of peace accidents claimed the lives of 27 Americans every day, eleven every hour, one every six minutes.

Congress is considering ways and means of avoiding future American battle casualties. Is the average citizen taking thought of how to reduce future peace time casualty lists?

Woman Crash Victim Suffers Severe Injuries

Mrs. Laura Tormey, 50, of Martinez, was reported in a serious condition at a local hospital last night as the result of injuries suffered in an automobile accident here Sunday.

Mrs. Tormey sustained concussion of the brain, a fractured nose, a cut on her mouth, cuts, bruises and other injuries. It was at first believed that she had not sustained serious hurts.

Leroy Berry, 33, of Davis, told officers Mrs. Tormey walked into the street and that he swerved his car in an attempt to avoid striking her. She was killed when she was hit by the car. Berry was not detained.

Mrs. Tormey had been visiting at San Pablo with an uncle, Charles Curry, and was walking to a stage stop to return to Martinez.

BRUNO EXECUTION DELAYED

ANN MOTHER INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—UP—Indictments charging Mrs. Maryon Cooper Hewitt with three counts involving conspiracy to commit mayhem were returned before Superior Judge Elmer Robinson by the county grand jury today.

She was charged with conspiracy to commit mayhem, aiding and abetting in the sterilization of her daughter, Ann Cooper Hewitt, and causing to be removed the reproductive organs of her daughter.

RAIL IS SET

Bail was set at $35,000 cash or bonds, subject to increase or decrease when Mrs. Hewitt appears for arraignment.

Judge Robinson, in fixing the amount for bail, commented that an excessive amount could not be recommended in view of the fact that the $250,000 set for Doctors Samuel Boyd and Milton Gillman, who face trial on conspiracy charges in the same case.

Mrs. Hewitt reportedly is gravely ill in New Jersey, suffering from the effects of an overdose of a sleeping powder. She may contest today's indictment by seeking a writ of habeas corpus, or may appeal to the State of New Jersey to deny extradition.

PLOT IS CHARGED

Assistant District Attorney August Fournier, who has acted as prosecutor in the sterilization case, informed the court that the State had information indicating that Mrs. Cooper Hewitt was endeavoring to remain outside the jurisdiction of California courts and thus avoid trial on the mayhem charges.

The indictments climaxed a long legal battle inaugurated when Mrs. (Continued On Page 8)

Not The Last Visit

MRS. ANNA HAUPTMANN, attired in spring clothes, leaving the cell of her condemned husband. They both thought it would be the last time they would meet. A last-minute postponement of the execution has renewed hope of at least one more visit together.

P. I. Officers Take Fort In Bandit Battle

MANILA, Wednesday, April 1.—UP—Constabulary headquarters disclosed today that a detachment of officers from Lanao province of Mindanao island today captured Moro fortress after a day siege, during which three Moore outlaws suspected of murder were slain.

First reports indicated several other bandits were wounded or captured by 80 constabularymen who participated in the siege. Officials estimated there were about 30 fugitives from justice in the rude fortress, including women, when the police force finally effected a capture of the stronghold.

Some of the outlaws, it was believed, fled during the night.

Execution Of Police Slayer Also Delayed

TRENTON, N. J., March 31.—UP—Charles Zied, Camden gangster who was to have preceded Bruno Richard Hauptmann to death in the electric chair tonight, was granted a 30-day reprieve late today by Governor Harold G. Hoffman.

The governor said his action was based on documents produced by Rabbi Abraham Holzberg, Zied's spiritual advisor, which warrant investigation.

Father Of Local Resident Is Called

Big German Zep Starts Atlantic Hop

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, March 31.—UP—Germany's giant new Zeppelin, the Hindenburg, was over the Atlantic tonight, headed for Rio de Janeiro on her maiden flight and "all was well" according to last reports.

The Hindenburg was last seen off the coast of Alderney, Channel Islands, heading southwest by two Jersey Airways planes. She left here at 5:30 A. M.

The huge craft flew north to the Netherlands and the English channel and then turned south. It was announced that she chose this route, instead of the usual shortcut across France because the French government had not "yet" authorized the Hindenburg to fly over French territory.

Missing Plane Is Forced Down; All Aboard Safe

ELKO, Nev., March 31.—UP—Search for three prominent Elko business men missing in their airplane for a day and a half ended late today when Irvin De Long walked into the Cremowan ranch, 50 miles north of Elko, and reported the plane had made a forced landing in a meadow. He said neither the pilot, Norman Crumley, Jr., former army air corps officer, nor the other passenger, Harvey Elliot, was injured.

AIRPLANES, BOMBS USED BY SOLDIERS

MOSCOW, March 31.—UP—Soviet-Mongolian and Japanese Manchukuan troops tonight were locked in battle on the powder keg frontier of Outer Mongolia, Soviet protectorate.

The Japanese troops were described as equipped with the most modern implements of war, causing fear that the clash may develop into the most serious of a number of recent border skirmishes.

OTHER CLASHES

Three other clashes on the Outer Mongolian frontier have been reported within the last week. The tense situation was further complicated by reported seizure of three Japanese military agents by Mongol-Soviet troops.

The clashes have centered mainly around Lake Norin and the Howang-ho river. Japanese forces allegedly captured a Soviet-Mongolian border outpost last Wednesday, after a sharp skirmish, but retreated in a Manchukuan territory when a Soviet airplane flew over their position.

The latest battle was said to have occurred when a detachment of Japanese-Manchukuan troops in army trucks supported by artillery, tanks (Continued On Page 8)

Faris Honored By Lions Club At Dinner Meet

A. C. Faris, secretary of the Richmond Lions Club for the past 15 years was signally honored last evening when Richmond Lions held their annual ladies night celebration at the Hotel Carcinez.

City Manager Hollis Thompson of Berkeley, past president of the Berkeley Lions and past governor of the district, was speaker of the evening. He gave a most interesting and inspirational talk on friendship, fellowship and individuality.

Postmaster William H. McCarthy, of San Francisco and Postmaster L. J. Thomas of Richmond were introduced during the affair.

Professional entertainment was enjoyed; the club orchestra presented several selections and A. J. Furrer led in community singing.

W. P. Drumme acted as chairman of the evening and introduced guests and speakers.

More than 150 persons attended the dinner and program. Decorations were composed of spring blossoms.

New Warden Visits San Quentin Prison

SAN QUENTIN, March 31.—Warden Court Smith of Folsom Prison, who will succeed Warden James B. Holohan as head of San Quentin Prison on April 15, made his first visit to the prison here today to familiarize himself with the institution, and to become acquainted with various department heads before assuming the new duties.

Warden Smith, appointed to Holohan's post by the State Board of Prison Directors after the latter retired, said he plans to make several visits to San Quentin Prison before officially replacing Holohan. "I want to become familiar with the various prison problems here," Smith said, "and acquaint myself with the department heads." He said he has not planned any changes in the prison personnel.

Warden Halts Death Plans As Grand Jury Probes "Confessions"

TRENTON, N. J., Wednesday, April 1.—UP—The city will come up on at least two more days for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, who escaped the electric chair by 20 minutes last night when his execution was postponed 48 hours by Warden Mark O. Kimberling of Trenton State Prison.

Kimberling, who has the power to execute Hauptmann any time this week for the murder of the Lindbergh baby, acted at the request of the Mercer County grand jury which is investigating the repudiated confession to the Lindbergh kidnap-murder of Paul H. Wendell, disbarred Trenton lawyer.

The grand jury, which had been in session 12 hours, broke up at 1:05 A. M. without indicating what decision, if any, had been reached concerning Wendell.

Mercer County Prosecutor Erwin Marshall said the grand jury would meet again at 1:30 P. M. today.

"Will they resume investigation of the Wendell case?" he was asked.

"I don't know," Marshall replied.

Merriam Tries To Pass The Relief "Buck"

A conference between Governor Merriam and a committee from the State Supervisory Association, appointed at his request, was held yesterday at the capitol on the subject of relief. Supervisor James N. Long of this city was a member of the committee.

It developed that the chief executive desired to pass over relief administration to the supervisors of the various counties, but the committee shied away from the proposal and said it would work out a program and submit it within two weeks. If acceptable to the governor, the plan will then be submitted to the supervisory association as a whole for its approval. One thing was made definitely plain and certain to the governor, and that was whatever plan was adopted there would be tolerated no interference in its operation by State authorities.

The $24,000,000 bond money voted for relief for the year ending on June 30th has dwindled away until there is only about $1,200,000 left on which to carry relief work for the months of April, May and June, and out of this must come money for commitments already made and bills contracted, which have not been paid leaving approximately $800,000. Uncertainty as to (Continued On Page 8)

MAKES LETTER PUBLIC

An hour after Hauptmann's life was spared, Governor Harold G. Hoffman made public a letter which the condemned man wrote to him yesterday. Conched in the tumbler phrases of a man who does not write English well, it was a desperate cry of innocence from the death house. Although it was addressed to Hoffman it contained paragraphs directed at other persons, including Attorney General David P. Wilentz, who prosecuted the German for the murder of the Lindbergh baby.

"Mr. Wilentz," it read, "with my dying breath I swear by God that you convicted an innocent man. Once you will stand before the same judge to whom I go in a few hours—God will be the judge between you and me."

When he wrote that letter, Hauptmann did not know his life was (Continued On Page 8)

Five dogs qualified last night for the third elimination to be held next Tuesday night. Those qualifying are Red Rawdon, Aunt Dora, The Madison, Alder Gutch and Newbarossa.

Agos of Jane Luten's string and The Madison hooked up for $184.40 on the double.

The most amazing performance of the evening, however, was that of Jim Trout's To To, a 61 pound brindle with much foot to win his fourth straight race paid $12.40. He rolled in the last step, after the White Commanche had established the early speed. Next time To To starts racing, Secretary Johnny Hayward will give him the hot testimonial to the dog's reliable ability. Trout had a hole with Trudy winning the fourth race, as a repeater.

Tonight El Cerrito is offering an excellent future stake with Golden Hoop, Shawnee Belle, Another Aristocrat and Big Butano scumpering after the lure in the 500 yard course.

Fair Weather Predicted For Bay Area Today

Fair weather and frost were forecast for today and tonight as the aftermath of the vicious little storm that hammered the whole coastal area the night before.

The storm which swept in from the ocean struck just after sundown Monday night.

Los Angeles and vicinity was drenched by an all-night rainstorm but only minor damage was reported. Interior valley points likewise received a drenching followed by frost. Heavy snowfall was reported in the Sierras and along summit points.

At San Jose the heavy rain will delay the spinach crop, according to farmers, but no material damage was reported there.

In the East Bay lights flickered and Alameda experienced 15 minutes of darkness, due to damaged wires. Late ferry boats plowed thru whitecaps on the bay and gave commuters a thrill by rolling in the heavy seas, but no shipping damage was reported along the waterfront.

In general it was believed that benefits to agriculturists from the sudden downpour more than compensated for any losses that occurred.

Condition Of Screen Star Very Serious

NEW YORK, March 31.—Slight improvement in the condition of Marilyn Miller, stage and screen actress, was reported today by her physician, Dr. W. L. Whitmore, after it was feared she might not live through the day.

"Miss Miller is a little better now," he said, "and we are more hopeful. But she is very seriously ill."

Her temperature, he added, had dropped from a high of 106 to 104 1-2. She remained semiconscious under treatment at Doctors' Hospital, suffering from a "very serious toxic condition."

Miss Miller, who walked into the hospital two weeks ago for "a rest," developed "a toxic condition during the night" and her temperature at one time rose to 106 degrees, one of three physicians attending her said.

The condition of the former Florenz Ziegfeld star took a sudden turn for the worse two days ago, the physicians said, but did not grow critical until early today.

It was reported that nearly $6000 has already been raised for the memorial and that discussion of plans for a suitable memorial will start at once.

MELODY WAVES TO SURGE AT FOX THURSDAY

On the waves of Irving Berlin melody, Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers will bring their new musical romance, "Follow The Fleet" to the screen of the Fox theater tomorrow.

The nimble Astaire and his lithic, titan-haired partner have scored three record smashing hits within the short space of a year. They come this time with quite a new and bewildering display of talent.

Astaire sings and dances to "We Saw The Sea" and "I'd Rather Lead a Band" with Miss Rogers, he sings and dances to "All My Eyes in One Place" and "Let's Face The Music And Dance." Miss Rogers has a solo song and dance "Let Yourself Go" which is repeated with Fred as a dance contest.

"Follow The Fleet" is an adaptation of two famous plays "Hit The Deck" and "Shore Leave" It is a story of jobs and girls when the fleet's in.

Randolph Scott, Astrid Allwyn and Huntley Gordon are members of the cast, and a new personality is presented in the singing star, Purlett Hilliard.

"The Preview Murder Mystery" is the second picture on the bill. It is a high tension, murder mystery story set in the Hollywood studios. Reginald Denny, Francis Drake, Gail Patrick and Rod La Roque are the principal players.

"The Invisible Ray" starring Boris Karloff and Bela Lugosi supported by Frances Drake and Frank Lawton, will play for the last time today at the Fox. "My Marriage" with Claire Trevor, Paul Kelly and Kent Taylor starred, also screens today.

Flood Refugees

HUMANS SUFFERED intensely in the recent floods in Hartford, Conn., and the Connecticut River Valley, but so did animals. Here are rescued goats and their kids who finally found a haven in a humane society stall in Hartford.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 31—Friends who talked with Herbert Hoover during his recent New York visit are saying he is extremely hot under the collar at Governor Alf Landon.

Trouble seems to be Landon's deal with Governor Merriam of California for control of the state's delegation.

Hoover wants an unimpaired delegation, but one that will take orders from him. He views the Landon-Merriam trade as a personal affront. And when he read about it in the papers, he called up Landon by long distance telephone and protested.

According to the account Hoover gave his friends, this is what Landon replied:

"Well, Mr. Hearst wanted me to enter the California field, and in a choice between you and Mr. Hearst, I think it best I follow Mr. Hearst's wishes."

HUGHES VERSES HUGHES

The decision of a New York federal court declaring unconstitutional the embargo on arms sales to Bolivia and Paraguay, is going to put Chief Justice Hughes in an exceedingly hot spot.

For Mr. Hughes, while Secretary of State, was the author and chief advocate of an act of Congress almost identical to the one his colleague on the New York federal bench now has declared unconstitutional.

What Judge Mortimer Byers in New York objected to was the fact that Congress delegated the power to embargo arms sales "if the President finds" this is prolonging the war. The delegation of this power, Judge Byers held, was unconstitutional.

The law which Chief Justice Hughes wrote while Secretary of State in 1922 specifies that "when the President finds" this is prolonging the war, he may embargo arms shipments to the revolutionaries.

This is a greater delegation of power, since it gives the President the power of defining what is and what is not a revolution—sometimes an extremely difficult problem.

Legalists of the State and Justice Departments are determined to throw this test case up to Chief Justice Hughes and see what he thinks of it.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS

Frank Wickham, thirty-four-year old Sioux Falls, S. D. attorney, probably owes his election as president of the Young Democrats to a group of bearded, barefoot men in homespun clothes.

One day last August they trailed into the gay dining room of a leading Milwaukee hotel. They sat down and ordered dinner.

When soup was brought, they frowned, ordered a big punch bowl, poured their individual portions into the common bowl, and all proceeded to eat from that.

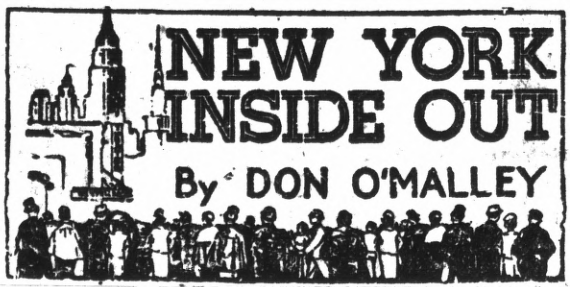

When dinner was over, they walked out, picked up band instruments they had left in the lobby, and began to play riotous tunes, while followers shouted, "We want Wickham!" "Wickham for President!"

It was Wickham's "Menonite Band" and it helped materially in putting across his election as head of the Young Dems in the face of Jimmy Roosevelt's opposition.

Today Wickham has started a campaign, under Jim Farley's direction, to line up the youth of the country for Roosevelt.

FOREIGN TAXPAYERS

The most vigorous undercover

NEW YORK INSIDE OUT By DON O'MALLEY

NEW YORK, March 31—It's been a tough season for many of the skilled, veteran actors. Chrystal Hume, an actress of distinction and one of the top ranking players in the country, waited three years for a play. Finally she opened in "A Room in Red and White" giving a notable performance. The play closed after three weeks. . . And Maude Adams has been nibbling at bait for two years or more without finding a suitable vehicle for a come-back. . . Dick Powell, the movie star, is a specialist with the cock book. When he has guests for dinner, Powell likes to relax by preparing the meal himself. . . The Midway will miss the late O. P. Heggie's superb comedy portrayals. I like to remember Herzog in that scene in Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion" at the end of the first act. Tired of domestic ties, Mr. Androcles goes off into the desert with his arms around the lion's neck, while Mrs. Androcles screams "Coward!" after him. As Heggie played it, you were all in favor of the lion.

LUTHER—Earl Thomas, who's been in the clouds mulling over that probtax bill, spent two full days of its executive sessions examining the problem and the claims of the foreign companies.

This is the second time the Roosevelt Administration has tangled with foreign coupon-clippers.

In 1923 it cracked down on them by putting into effect a provision of the 1928 Revenue Law, requiring stock-brokers to report the profits of their customers. The result was the disclosure that thousands of foreign investors had made lush profits on the stock exchange but paid no taxes on them.

The Hoover Administration had never invoked this section of the statute. As a result of enforcing it during the last three years, approximately $75,000,000 in taxes has been collected from foreign stock market operators.

On her face—she was so obviously unhappy.

"YOU'RE coming home with me right now, Eve. Oh, you don't know what this will mean to Mother! She hasn't been well lately, and every day she says, 'I wonder if we will hear from Eve today.'"

"Marianne, then she forgives . . ."

"She never condemned," Marianne soothed. "And, Eve, we never believed you left with Charley Forham."

"B-b-but I d-did," Eve sobbed. "I don't deserve to come home. I don't deserve to see Mother again."

"Certainly you do," Marianne said crisply. "If you'll call that North Pole in the front room—I suppose she is your boss—I'll tell her I'm taking you home for the rest of the day."

"No. She wouldn't allow it. She's difficult to work for. And—I'm not just sure I want to go. If I were successful—you seem so prosperous, and I'm a failure—I've caused too much trouble already. It will be better, Marianne, if you just go on as though you had never seen me. Don't tell Mother. I—I'd only be a burden. So's racked Eve's thin figure."

THE frigid woman stuck her head in the door.

"If you please," curtly, "be quiet. A customer might see."

Marianne nodded. She put both arms about Eve and turned her head so it was buried on her shoulder. She waited patiently for the sobs to subside.

"Charley and I had a bitter quarrel shortly after I ran away," Eve explained tearfully. "and I haven't seen him since. That didn't matter because—because I was ashamed, I didn't want to run off with him, but I didn't realize what it would mean to be alone and without work or friends, in a place like this."

"You've had a shabby time of it, haven't you?" Marianne said pityingly.

"Yes, but that doesn't matter if only."

"Only what?" Marianne prodded gently.

"If only I could find something worth while to do. If I could—oh this sounds melodramatic—only alone some way until I do I can't face Mother. A disgrace—a failure—"

"Will you please stop calling yourself names?" Marianne scolded.

She realized that Eve's shame and remorse would be a difficult barrier to surmount. If she left her now Eve would slip away and hide somewhere from those who loved her. She must think of some way to get Eve home with her. But how? What could she say that would be strong enough to win her point?

Two Births Are Recorded Here

Two births were recorded at the Richmond Cottage hospital yesterday.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Trent of Point Richmond. Dr. Rosa Powell was in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Gigli, of Crockett are the parents of a daughter born on Monday.

buses have appeared on the city's highways and byways. I've taken to worrying considerably about what happens to the discarded trolley cars. The old electric vehicles cost from $7,000 to $10,000 each to build, and that's a lot of money to be sent to the winds.

The actual fate of an abandoned trolley car, it seems, is the junk yard over in Newark and other New Jersey points. Metal dealers buy the cars for about $50 or $60 a ton. Then they get to work with acetylene torches and smelting furnaces, and before long out comes new steel axes and metal bearings—to be used over again in the new buses if necessary.

All of this seems to me like a cat chasing its tail, and even though I've finally gotten the correct explanation, I'm still sad about the whole business. But the New Yorkers like a new show—in transportation or in theatricals.

DECEIVED—Katharine Cornell, rather, I believe, sends me this story which occurred during her recent appearance here in "Romeo and Juliet." Miss Cornell invited a friend and her two children, a girl of seven and a boy of nine, to see the play. Everything proceeded quietly until the final scene, where Juliet plunges the dagger into her breast to join Romeo in death. At this point, a small masculine voice protested:

"Oh, fock, mother, you promised CIRCLE—later, as the new motor us we should meet her!"

PIANIST WILL BE GUEST STAR AT SYMPHONY

Saint-Saens' G minor concerto is on the program of the San Francisco Symphony orchestra to be played under the direction of Pierre Monteaux and with Gunnar Johansen as guest artist at this orchestra's last Berkeley concert in the men's gymnasium on Sunday, April 5, at 3:15 P. M.

When Johansen, who was guest artist with the Paris symphony at the early age of seventeen, played at a concert of the Chicago Symphony orchestra two years ago, his success was so overwhelming that the conductor, Mr. Stokowski, felt compelled to yield to the enthusiasm of the audience and repeat part of the number being played.

Johansen is noted for his imaginative interpretations, his perfect technique and exact rhythm, together with a strength which allows him to make the piano score surmount even the higher powers of the accompanying orchestra.

Today's Safe Driving Hint

By The National Safety Council

CARBON MONOXIDE GAS

Carbon monoxide gas is the unseen killer that lurks in every garage. Unless the doors and windows are open, a running motor will generate a sufficient quantity of it within a few minutes to cause death.

It is colorless, tasteless and odorless. It strikes without warning. The victim lapses into a coma preceding death before he is even aware that anything is wrong.

Many deaths resulting from carbon monoxide gas have been reported in recent years while the victims were riding in closed cars on the highway. The gas has a way of seeping up through the floor boards and if no windows are open it may cause death.

Fight this deadly peril with fresh air.

PAY PATIENTS BARRED FROM CO. HOSPITALS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—The State Supreme Court today ruled that admission of pay patients to county hospitals is illegal.

The court made the ruling by refusing to review an injunction restraining Kern county supervisors and the management of the county hospital from admitting others than indigents to the hospital.

The ruling, attorneys pointed out, affects every county hospital in the State. The case became of State-wide interest when supervisors of 11 counties joined in an attempt to dissolve the Superior Court order.

Defined as eligible for treatment at the county hospital are:

"An indigent sick or dependent poor person; a needy sick and dependent or partially dependent citizen in case of emergency; a psychopath, narcotic addict, or habitually inebriate in temporary custody; prisoners requiring medical treatment on court order, victims of accident or sudden sickness, arising out of a public emergency, and limited isolation cases."

Free hospitalization is denied any patient whose relatives legally are liable for his support, and able to pay for and obtain proper and necessary medical or surgical or hospital care.

Counties intervening in the action included Santa Barbara, Solano, Shasta, Calaveras, Colusa, Sutter, Stanislaus, San Luis Obispo, Tehama, Yolo and San Joaquin. The injunction previously had been affirmed by the Fourth District Court of Appeals at Fresno.

Over 2000 Boats In This County

MARTINEZ, March 31.—Justin Randall, deputy county assessor, estimated today there are 2,000 boats in Contra Costa county, 1,000 of which have been registered under the requirements of the new state law.

Boats under 20 feet in length do not have to be registered but they are subject to assessment for taxation purposes and should be reported to the assessor.

The registration requirement will enable the assessor to make a more complete check than ever before on boats in the county. Randall is to classify them as soon as he completes the task of registration and entry for assessment purposes.

He announced that one boat placed on the county's assessment roll, a pleasure craft, was built ten years ago at a cost of $100,000. It is based in eastern Contra Costa county.

Mother Finds Son Dead; She Dies Of Shock

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—Mrs. Emile Augustein, 82, went to the bedside of her son, William Augustein, 62, this morning to inquire why he had not come to breakfast. She found him dead, victim of a heart attack.

She started for help, clutched at her own heart, and collapsed. A few moments later she too, was dead of a heart attack.

Two daughters told police they had discovered the son dead earlier but had withheld the information from the mother. Mother and son will probably be buried in a double service, relatives said. Both had been ill for some time. The home is at 856 Shotwell street.

Hollywood Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD, March 31.—UP—Parents who hope their offspring will make good as motion picture players should be careful not to instruct them in the art of acting.

At least, that is the advice of Josephine Hutchinson, Warner Brothers star.

"Whatever parents do to further their children's movie careers, they should not teach the little devils how to act," says Miss Hutchinson. Having them instructed in singing, dancing and music is suitable and necessary, but instruction in acting should wait until they are of a more mature age.

The singing and dancing training is important, according to Miss Hutchinson, because it gives the "timing" or "rhythm" must be a natural attribute, she says, for no matter how intensely instructed, if the pupil hasn't it, he never will be a success before the cameras.

"It's hard to define the rhythm," she explains, "but any one who has ever acted on the stage will know what I mean."

Actors are like ballroom dancers. Two good dancers often find it impossible to dance with each other because of their conflicting styles and rhythms. It's about the same way with actors. Both may be good, but if they can't work together the scenes are ruined.

Miss Hutchinson says she always was ambitious to be an actress. She and on relief, received from $55 to $84 a month.

Answering Knutson's statement that she was "overtime" on the project, she said she had not worked overtime on the project.

"Then I found I had a good train, and I really was on the road to becoming an actress," she says.

WPA OFFICIAL QUITS JOB IN PROTEST MOVE

VALLEJO, March 31.—UP—A plan to discharge 32 WPA workers, residents of Vallejo, and replace them with workers from Alameda county relief rolls, today resulted in the resignation of Miss Nora Conrad, superintendent in charge of a public health service survey project in Solano county.

Miss Conrad charged the plan, allegedly arranged by Orville Knutson, Oakland, California superintendent of enumeration, was part of a "political plot" which included her removal from the county superintendency. She threatened yesterday to resign, after 29 years in the public health service, unless the orders were withdrawn.

Knutson said today the 32 displaced workers had put in "overtime employment" which exhausted their allotted time on the project. He indicated the project would be completed by drawing on the Alameda county relief rolls and using funds allotted to Alameda county.

The workers on the project have been engaged since December in investigating cases of illness and compiling a chart to show the prevalence of various diseases in the county.

Those engaged in the work, men and women who are family heads and on relief, received from $55 to $84 a month.

Answering Knutson's statement that she was "overtime" on the project, she said she had not worked overtime on the project.

"Then I found I had a good train, and I really was on the road to becoming an actress," she says.

ARTHRITIS OFTEN YIELDS TO TREATMENT

Arthritis is one of the most important of modern diseases because of the fact that it causes more suffering and keeps a larger number of people from useful work than any other chronic disorder. While arthritis is not a killing disease, it stands supreme as a crippler. In addition to the painful nature of the disorder, arthritis may cause severe deformity and in its later stages, interferes with the economic usefulness of the patient. The patient with a well-developed case loses his physical comfort, his salary, and his independence, all at the same time.

In the past, proper attention was not given to the disease and treatment proceeded in a more or less hit and miss fashion. However, within the last 20 years, the disease has been more thoroughly studied, and various methods of treatment have been discovered. At the present time, the patient may be encouraged to hope for relief of his symptoms, especially pain, and to expect that enough improvement will be secured so that he will have reasonable use of the joint. Of course, if the joint has been distorted to a marked degree it is not always possible to return it to its normal shape.

The outlook for recovery depends upon many factors, such as the age of the patient, how long the disease has been present, the amount of bony deformity which has taken place, and also upon the persistence with which the patient sticks to the treatment. The patient must keep fighting for recovery, and this is one disease where it is necessary that the patient be truly patient, while relief may be obtained within a few days or weeks, a satisfactory improvement usually takes months. When the patient refuses to give up and maintains a hopeful expectancy of eventual recovery, even in the face of short set-backs, results are often obtainable which seemed impossible at the beginning.

The term arthritis means inflammation of a joint, and inflammation of the joint structure is a characteristic feature of the disease; however, instead of being a disease of the joints, arthritis is really a disease of the whole body, in which the chief symptoms appear in the joints. Although the changes in the joints are easily noticed because they stand out so clearly, nevertheless, other changes occur, which are of the greatest importance, even though they are not so readily observed by the patient. Among the internal changes are the following: An interference with the circulation of the blood; changes in metabolism; changes in the way the large intestine does its work so that abnormal functioning is the rule rather than the exception; and a disturbance of nutrition. The normal physiological processes are disturbed and these fundamental departures from the normal are the true causes of the disorder.

While arthritis may be divided into several types, the two main types are the atrophic, seen in younger patients; and the hypertrophic type, usually seen in the patient past middle age. The latter type may induce severe deformity of the joint which has earned for it the name of "arthritis deformans." In hypertrophic arthritis, the patient generally grows worse only slowly and gradually. At first, he may complain of only slight disability, later, severe deformity of the joint, considerable pain, and marked crippling may occur. The common symptoms of arthritis are pain, tenderness, stiffness, and a disinclination to move the affected joint. Cracking or grating noises may be heard when the joint is moved.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Exercise Best for Leg Development)
Question: Mrs. Wanda T. writes: "My legs are very weak, and I was wondering, if I massaged them with hot olive oil, would they look better?"

Answer: While massage improves the circulation and the appearance of the skin, very little oil is absorbed in this way and that which is absorbed does not remain under the skin but is taken up by the blood or lymphatics and carried all over the body. The best way to develop the legs is through exercise at this build the muscles.

(Nose Enlarged from Acne)
Question: Marie says: "Can you give me some remedy to reduce a large fleshy nose? My nose is very fleshy especially from the middle to the end. The pores are very large and fill up with oil surprisingly quick."

Answer: The appearance of fleshiness in the end of your nose is probably caused by the acne, as there is undoubtedly a good deal of inflammation and swelling under the skin. If you can overcome the acne, I am sure your nose will appear more normal in size.

(Possibly Rickets)
Question: Mrs. I. writes: "My baby boy is seventeen months old, does not walk, and cries when we stand him on his feet. He moves his hands now as little as possible; they are very slender. He perspires very freely on his head and face. His abdomen is large. What could be the trouble?"

Answer: The symptoms you describe might indicate that the baby has rickets, but you should have a doctor's examination to find out if this is the trouble. Rickets can usually be corrected through the use of suitable measures.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

The Doctor Discusses Rare Disease Marked by Excessive Thirst

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

DIABETES INSIPIDUS is a chronic disease in which the only thing abnormal is great increase in the action of the kidneys, accompanied by thirst. It is a rare condition which usually affects young people and is more common in men than in women. There seems to be a strong hereditary tendency to the disease.

Dr. Well studied one family in which there were twenty-three victims among nine or ten members in four generations. There are two general groups of cases. The first, or primary, group is that in which no organic trouble can be found. The second, or symptomatic, group occurs in certain forms of brain diseases or injuries.

Fracture at the base of the brain or other cranial injuries, inflammation of the brain tissues, particularly at the base, tumors of the brain and certain forms of cerebral hemorrhage will be included in this group.

In these cases the symptoms are those of the causative trouble and the treatment must be applied to the brain condition. In the primary type no abnormal condition exists in the various organs except possibly enlargement and congestion of the kidneys, dilatation of the ureter and enlargement of the bladder.

Forty Quarts a Day

Usually the disease crops up without any warning or may follow some injury, nervous shock or acute infectious disease. The patient enjoys perfect health except an increase in the action of the kidneys and almost intolerable thirst.

Dr. Trousseau describes a patient of his, who drank 40 quarts of water in 24 hours. A common quantity is eight to ten quarts a day. The thirst is almost insatiable and the drinking of water and satisfying of the thirst may be one of the greatest pleasures of their lives. If they are deprived of water their suffering is extreme and, like a drug fiend, they will go to almost any extreme to obtain enough water. All of this does no harm to the general health.

The inconvenience is that the great demand for water interferes with the normal activities of life and prevents uninterrupted rest at night.

Because of the great loss of fluid there is lack of fluid elsewhere in the body. The mouth is parched and little saliva is present. The skin is dry, there is no sweating and constipation results from lack of fluid.

Many Theories Advanced

Various theories have been advanced as to the cause of the trouble. We know that a small puncture of a particle of gray matter at the base of the brain, which connects with the pituitary gland, will cause the disease.

The most acceptable theory is, that injury to this portion of the brain causes some physico-chemical change in the tissues which, in turn, affects their capacity to store fluids. If the trouble is caused by some inflammation or injury to the base of the brain, spinal puncture and the withdrawal of spinal fluid may help.

Many drugs have been used but nothing has been successful until lately, when it has been discovered that injections of pituitary into the muscles of the arm or thigh would relieve the symptoms. They reduce the excessive thirst and give quick relief in sufficient doses which must be determined in each case. Usually a hypodermic injection of one C.C. of pituitary three times a day will give complete relief. The great trouble is that must be given by injection as does no good by the mouth.

Dr. Chrisman offers readers the privilege of addressing questions to him care of this column. He will answer questions of general interest in his regular daily column.

Short Cuts

Never rub, twist or wring fabrics containing rayon. Squeeze gently.

Should a recipe call for grated lemon or orange rind, take the whole washed fruit and rub it against the grater, making sure that only the yellow portion of the rind is removed.

The growing period for a rubber plant is from May to October. During this time the size of the pot may determine whether the plant will grow more root than leaves. It seems that a too large pot encourages root development at the expense of foliage.

The best way to wash the gas range is to remove the burners. Boil them in a strong solution of soap and soda; then pour off the water and scrub with a stiff brush to rid them of all fragments of charred food. Next, rinse each part with clear hot water and replace it in its proper groove. Dry by lighting the flame for a few moments.

Profile For Today

Earle Is Liberal Governor of Pennsylvania

By TALBOT LAKE

GEORGE H. EARLE, Governor of Pennsylvania, who took command of the emergency created by the spring floods, is a comparatively young Philadelphian of wealthy stock who became a pronounced liberal in politics.

He is the first Democrat to occupy the old executive mansion on the Schuylkill River at Harrisburg for forty years.

Before his election, Governor Earle was known as a sportsman and big game hunter. His favorite sport was polo, which he played as a ranking amateur around the aristocratic Main Line of his home neighborhood.

The Governor is a quick thinker. He decides his problems without undue delay. His recent action in calling out the National Guard to protect life and property in the flooded zones was typical of him. The commander of the guard, General Shannon, a World War veteran, was a candidate for Governor of the state the year Mr. Earle was elected.

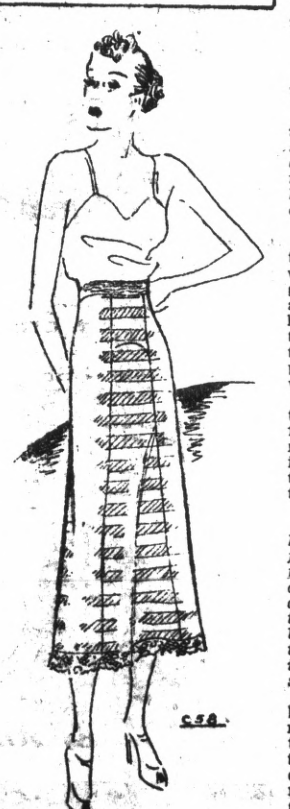

Governor Earle is known as a champion of academic freedom for the teachers at all Pennsylvania schools which receive state aid. He has the power to veto or reduce appropriations and has taken the stand that schools which discipline teachers for free speech should not be given state money.

The Bed-Head Lamp
While reading in bed is condemned by some physicians as an unhealthy practice, it is a comfortable luxury to some victims of insomnia. The good housekeeper can obtain, and herself install, reading lamps that fasten to the head of the bedstead of as many of her household as desire them.

Certainly there should be one in the guest room, also a bed-side table with something interesting on it to be read by the wakeful guest.

Training the Daughter
The favorite Sunday breakfast in many families is meat mackerel. Others favor such wheat cakes. A modern Middle Western mother refused recently to make herself a servant on Sunday mornings and assigned the task of preparing and serving the leisurely breakfast to her daughter. This was the girl's regular task for which she was commended and which gave her a feeling of importance.

Guide to Charm

Life's Tempo Means New Beauty Aid

By JACQUELINE HUNT

THE whole tempo of modern life is written in the faces of women today. There is the dry parched look that comes from rushing from over-heated houses into chilly winds; there is the drawn look and the sallowness complexion that accompanies breathless living.

There are fatigue lines that tell of worry about jobs, homes, husbands, and a thousand and one other problems. Believing that the modern woman needs special beauty care to enable her to meet the increasing demands on her energy and loveliness, a famous beauty authority has prepared a special cream for what she terms the modern, "high-tension" skin.

This cream is to be used at night—practically the only time a modern woman relaxes—to renew the life and beauty of the skin. With this famous lady's scientific efficiency she has put into this new preparation the ingredients that will counteract, during the average seven hours of sleep, the ravages wrought on the skin during the seventeen waking hours of a busy, hectic day.

In addition to its stimulating qualities, this cream contains a balsam oil that softens and youthifies the dry lined skin. Just how effective it is, regular use shows. Lines, excessive dryness, that drawn, tired look fade away as if by magic. You wake up with a glowing complexion, your skin clear and soft. Apply your make-up and you can face a hard day's routine confident that you will still look fresh when the dinner hour arrives.

Because the woman who has this "high-tension" skin is usually the nervous type who finds it difficult to relax, and because she is the one who needs a night of sleep, the expert suggests a series of exercises to be taken in bed after the face has been thoroughly cleansed and night cream applied liberally. These exercises will help you "let go" and fall asleep quickly and easily.

1. Stretch arms above the head. Pulling first one arm up, then the other, stretching every muscle from the waistline. At the same time, stretch the alternate leg downward, pushing first one and then the other. In this exercise the pull should be felt from toes to fingertips.

2. Kneel on the bed, body upright, arms stretched upward, head back and relaxed. Drop the body forward, bend between the arms on the bed, relaxing completely. Trunk folded back on the heels. Repeat several times.

3. This one is taken lying down. Arms at the sides, body relaxed and knees slightly bent. Roll over on your side, leading with the hips and following with the shoulders, until completely turned over, face downward.

Turn back and repeat to the other side. Do this several times, first to one side and then to the other.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "I have been working in an office which requires my sitting at a desk all day. I have developed large muscles on my legs. Can you tell me what exercise will help reduce this?"
—D.H.B.

Lie on your back on the floor, so that your hips are against the wall, your legs lifted at a right angle to your body and resting against the wall. Let the right knee drop easily to your chest, and then return it to a vigorous thrust to its original position. Repeat ten times and do the same with your right leg.

Now push yourself away from the wall, and still lying on the floor, roll from side to side. Next raise and lower the legs, alternating the right and left. Do this ten times with each leg, then do both together, ten times.

QUESTION: "The skin on my hands and face is very dry. My face often gets scaly and it is hard for me to use powder. I have tried almost every cream on the market and still no improvement. Do you think I could prevent this dryness by using olive oil? I have been told to do so. Please tell me of an inexpensive method to tone my skin."
—Tricie

Make yourself some little beauty heaps of gauze and fill them with a mixture of equal parts shaved castile soap and almond meal. Use these as you would a washcloth for cleansing your skin and always rinse thoroughly. Dry and apply a good all-purpose cream or olive oil. Cream is really better, although olive oil is a splendid softener. Leave the cream on half an hour, remove the unabsorbed part with a cloth or tissues and rinse your skin with very cold water.

Gay Gloves In Colors Are Fish and Rice Go Together Spring Motifs In Spring and Lenten Menu

By IRENE VAIL

New York—One of the interesting frock constructions from the spring openings is the coat dress which closes at back in the classic way, opening several inches above hem.

This will necessarily require either slip or petticoat, adding another reason for considering bright contrasts or a harmonious dress shade.

A flurry of interest is being shown in very ray, colorful gloves, very short and the usual slip-on proportions.

The extremely short ones do not open at the palm but at the back of the hand, and are to be seen in smart shops in such shades as lemon, chartreuse, salmon, French blue, and even heliotrope and apple green.

One eventually links them with an accessory of reflected color, a belt, or a hat, or maybe just the handbag. It's a nice idea and one the summer girl is going to like very much.

In the meantime colored gloves are more talked about than seen at night. One expects to see flesh-colored sueded and sees only white ones, or the conservative white glove. Effectively presented on the stage, usually with white, gray or black gowns as a foil, brilliant gloves are not new, but still unusual enough to occasion little gasps of delight. Why they are not more universally taken up would be interesting to know.

Schiaparelli, to whom in any look for style guidance, sponsors high waistlines and higher trends of many collections. These are noted in wide girdles or slightly Directoire evening gowns or tiny evening boleros, as at Long.

These attract the eye to a higher line, while Vionnet's evening suits also vaguely suggest Directoire inspiration and these are reported among the successes of the collection.

FISH is "in" during Lent and it tastes just right now when appetites want something different from the usual winter fare. It is early, in most sections, for sunning on a bank with your own rod and reel, but don't worry. You can catch your fish at the market or you can catch it in a can—oysters, shell fish, crabs, fresh and salt-water fish; large, small or flaked fish—they are all ready for your table.

DINNERS
Green Pea Soup
Celery
Rice and Fish Loaf with Savory
Egg Sauce
Glazed Carrot Sticks
Lettuce Hearts
Mint Parfait
Tea
Cookies
Cucumber Watercress Canapes
Baked Halibut or White Fish
Baked Stuffed Potatoes
Artichokes with Butter Sauce
Rice-Aglio Pudding
Coffee

You can serve your fish with the proverbial lemon slices, parsley or sauces. A new partner is the trusty banana. Broil, fry or bake it just as you do your fish, and serve it hot and brown for a delightful new flavor. Rice goes well with fish and curry or chili powder will add zip if you like them.

Make a white sauce by heating 2 tablespoons of butter or salad oil in the top of a double boiler over a low flame. Stir in 1½ tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt and pepper. Remove from the direct heat, add 1 cup milk, return to the fire and cook, stirring constantly until the sauce is smooth and thickened. Combine 3 cups cooked rice with 2 tablespoons melted butter and line a well-greased loaf pan with it, reserving a little to spread over the top. Add 2 cups minced, cooked white-meat fish, salmon or tuna fish to the sauce with 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1½ teaspoons finely minced parsley and 1 beaten egg. Turn into the rice-lined pan and spread the remaining rice over the top. Set in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven 40 minutes. Cover during the first half of the cooking.

Baked Halibut
Butter a baking platter. Place a 1½ pound slice of halibut on it; then dust with salt and pepper and sprinkle with lemon juice. Strew 1 tablespoon minced chives and 1 minced green pepper or pimiento over the fish and sprinkle with ½ cup dry bread crumbs that have been mixed with 3 tablespoons melted butter. Pour in ¼ cup dry white wine and bake until the fish is tender and the crumbs brown. Allow 30 minutes for fish sliced 1 inch thick.

Shrimp Pie
Saute 1 small onion, chopped, in 2 tablespoons butter until light brown. Crumble 4 slices stale bread into small pieces and mix with 1 small can tomatoes. Stir into the onion mixture with 1 finely minced green pepper, 2 cups cooked and shelled fresh shrimp, salt and pepper to season. Cook about 20 minutes, add 3 hard-boiled eggs, chopped, and turn into a greased baking dish. Cover with ¼ cup fine bread crumbs, dot with butter and bake in a moderate oven 20 minutes. This makes 6 portions.

Fried Oysters
Pick over the oysters and dry with a clean cloth. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Have ready a dish of dry bread crumbs and dish with a beaten egg and 2 tablespoons water. Dip oysters first into the crumbs, then into the mixture, and then in crumbs. Fry in deep fat drain on ungreased paper and serve at once with buttered rice and cold slaw.

MODERN WOMEN

Wife Asks Advice After Quarrel With Her Husband Over Engagement

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

MEN and women never have and never will see eye to eye as to what is logic and what isn't. There seems to be two distinct kinds, masculine logic and feminine interpretation. There probably never was a husband who would admit that any act of his wife's, in which he was not in absolute accord, was based on logic, or any act of his own, no matter how illogical, was anything but the natural result of the best brand of logic. A reader of this column writes:

You and Your Child
Games Give Chance to Train Your Sons

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

DO you play checkers? Ten-year-old Jerry asked. "I used to play a lot," the visitor answered, "but haven't played in years. Are you challenging me to a game?"

The boy grinned. "Would you mind playing a game?" "Not at all,"

While Jerry set up a bridge sleep table, opened the checker board and set up the pieces, mother pursued the conversation with the visitor.

"Jerry," she observed, "is the checker champion around here." The boy invited the visitor to sit down opposite him. Mother watched a few of the moves. "I told you he was the champion," she said proudly. "We play together all the time."

It was Jerry's move now. He looked up shyly at his mother. "The trouble with your game," he said, "is you don't think." "Jerry, how can you say that of me?" Mother repressed a laugh. "It's true, though," the boy told the visitor earnestly. "She'll move a piece without thinking and then wonder why she loses it."

All that Jerry said of his mother is true; and more. When they play together, she invariably gives him the game if he is losing. In her eagerness to have the child enjoy himself, she thus overlooks teaching him sportsmanship. The spirit of true sportsmanship can only be acquired through playing games fairly, through taking one's chances at winning or losing. Not when a child is always "made" to win. Then he is not learning to play for the fun of it.

The Luxury of Water
Recent floods in Eastern states emphasized the importance of pure drinking water. So used are city populations to pure water at the tap that they had forgotten the old days when nearly all families boiled water to kill germs. Yet that was and still is the routine in many households.

How to Handle It
"We managed to get into quite a fuss, after which he suggested that we go to a show in order to square matters, and I refused, because if he was too tired, which party, I said he had to go to a show, and that made him mad, too. It's all over now, but it will happen again and I declare I don't know how to handle these situations. Five Years Married."

It's husbands' such as yours who say that women are the logic and who give women such a grand chance to chortle over what men proudly refer to as masculine logic.

I do not think you were high-handed, although possibly the way in which you handled the situation was not as tactful as most witty conduct should be. There is obviously no point in going out for a good time if it's a good time for all parties concerned. It is hard to imagine it could be a good time with one's escort acting like a martyr and kicking instead of keeping time to the music.

I can't say I blame you for calling the date off. A woman with any spunk does not like to have to commandeer her escort, even though he happens to be her husband.

Logical Enough

You were logical enough about the theater proposition, too. The evening, as far as you were concerned, was a total loss. I can see, though, how he might resent being punished for his sins.

I must also admit that I can quite understand how a man hates to have to keep dates made for him by his wife. Most of them do fall in line with minimum amount of trouble and I suppose, such being the case, we must overlook the occasional time when they balk.

You know how you hate to have to fall in line with any dates your husband makes for you. Wives do it, I know—but they don't really like it.

Modes and Manners

QUESTION: "Should a person accept an invitation to a dance when she does not dance?"
ANSWER: That would depend upon who gives the invitation. If it is from a man who likes dancing, better decline it with thanks and explain your position. On the other hand, if the invitation comes directly from a friend at whose home the dance is to take place, it is permissible to go, especially if your refusal or absence might offend the hospitality of the hostess.

QUESTION: What is the proper way to handle silver and glassware?
ANSWER: All silver should be handled by the handle. A tumbler is held at the bottom and a goblet by the stem.

QUESTION: "How should one help herself to mushrooms on toast from a serving dish?"
ANSWER: If a serving spoon and fork are on the platter, the spoon goes under the piece of toast. The serving fork, held prongs down, is used for pushing it. If a spoon alone, the guest must balance the toast on it as carefully as he is able.

Board Lacks Funds For Snooper Hire

SACRAMENTO, March 31.—UP—An apparent lack of funds today threatened to force the State Board of Equalization to abandon tentative plans to employ 50 undercover operators.

Although he said he was not prepared to make a final decision, State Finance Director Arlin E. Stockburger said he was inclined to refuse approval of claims for funds to cover the new set-up.

The expense, he said, would be new and unbudgeted and indicated he disapproved the plan on the face of what he has heard of it.

The board's plan already has been approved by the State Personnel Board, despite charges that attempts were being made to break down Civil Service provisions by establishing special classifications.

Stockburger, a member of the Personnel Board, was not present when the group approved the plan. He has authority to block the proposal, since all unbudgeted expenses must be approved by him.

Appeal Of L. A. Men Dismissed By Court

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The Supreme Court today "dismissed without prejudice" an appeal by Calvin W. Craig, former California State judge, and Joseph Weinblatt, both of Los Angeles, from one year jail terms and $1000 fines imposed for alleged attempts to "corruptly obstruct justice."

The Government charged Craig Weinblatt and others with attempting to obtain from $60,000 to $125,000 to aid in dismissal of the "Italo case" indictments through political connections in Washington.

Lamson Against Change Of Venue

SAN JOSE, March 31.—E. M. Rea, member of David Lamson's defense staff, said today he doubted very much "if the defense will ask for a change of venue in case the State orders a new trial for Lamson. I doubt if we would ask for a change."

Rea said, "In any case we shall say nothing until the State makes known its position Friday regarding a new trial."

It is believed the defense expects another disagreement if the case is retried here.

KERSEY MORAL CHARGE GIVEN TO COMMITTEE

LOS ANGELES, March 31.—UP—Charges against Vierling Kersey, State superintendent of schools, made by Ullric Trussell, ex-husband of Kersey's former secretary was dismissed by the State Board of Education in executive session tonight as a "shabby and poisonous hoax."

LOS ANGELES, March 31.—The State Board of Education met today and referred to a committee affidavits filed with the board by Ullric L. Trussell, Sacramento, and Vierling Kersey, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Dr. Lewis P. Crutcher, Long Beach, board president, said Trussell's affidavit was "the same one he tried to present to me, personally, a week ago."

Dr. Crutcher said on that occasion he refused to accept or read the Trussell affidavit. He did not disclose its contents.

The affidavit from Kersey, Crutcher said, was in reply to the one filed by Trussell.

The board president said his action in referring the affidavits to a committee of board members did not mean the board was "taking official cognizance" of any of the contents of either document.

Sugar Ruling Will Have Little Effect

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—The United States Supreme Court's ruling that some sections of the Sugar Institute code were in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, will have "little effect" on the industry, William B. Tyler, vice-president of the California-Hawaiian Sugar Refining Corporation, said today. He added that refiners have not been operating under the code for the past five years.

"The suit was brought exactly five years ago," he said. "Since that time refiners have not functioned under the Sugar Institute, pending final court decision. As a result, the practical effect of the decision is all the practices held illegal have not been employed by the industry."

Warden Halts Death Plans As Grand Jury Probes "Confessions"

going to be prolonged. It was just an hour before the scheduled execution.

DRAMATIC MOMENT

The corridor of Trenton State prison was choked with more than 20 persons who had been searched twice and identified so they could go into the death chamber and see Hauptmann die.

A phone rang in Kimberling's office.

"That's something," a newspaperman commented. It was.

Kimberling came out of his office, a piece of paper held in his hand that trembled with the excitement and suspense of this incredible day.

"I have received a telephone call from Ailyn Freeman, foreman of the Mercer county grand jury. He said the grand jury had requested him to call me and ask me to postpone the Hauptmann execution for 48 hours. He said they still were investigating the Wendell case and wanted to look into some interesting angles."

"For that reason I have decided to delay Hauptmann's execution for 48 hours."

"Does that mean he will be executed Thursday night?" Kimberling was asked.

"Probably so, but I will make an official announcement about that tomorrow," the warden said.

ATTORNEY CARRIES NEWS

C. Lloyd Fischer, the young Flemington attorney who fought hard all day for Hauptmann's life was in the corridor when Kimberling announced that once more Hauptmann had slipped out of the circle of doom that the law had drawn around him. Fischer hurried thru a barred door into the death house to take the news to Hauptmann—the only good news Hauptmann received all day.

Ten minutes after he came out. "What did Bruno say, Lloyd?" he was asked.

"He was delighted and very happy," Fischer said with a grin.

"What else did he say?"

"He said: 'I am very happy; this will mean better things.'"

WIFE OVERJOYED

TRENTON, N. J., March 31.—UP—Mrs. Anna Hauptmann had a peck tonight into the awful chasm that for her would be life without Bruno Richard Hauptmann and the experience left her weak and shaking but once more alive with hope.

For a moment, she was unable to support herself and toppled across a bed sobbing. "Thank God, oh thank God." Then she took two photographs—one of her husband and one of her 29 months old baby, and looked at them for long moments through tear-filled eyes.

"I never really gave up believing he would live," she said.

NO IRREGULARITY IN ACCOUNTS OF BANKER SUICIDE

RIO VISTA, March 31.—UP—Auditors checking the accounts of Fred E. Mitchell, 52, cashier of the Bank of Rio Vista, today reported to Friend W. Richardson, state superintendent of banking, that they had found nothing wrong with the bank's books.

Mitchell shot and killed himself, police said, shortly after Charles Ledwith, auditor with the banking department, made a routine check of the bank's records yesterday.

Today's audit was made in an effort to find a possible motive for the suicide. The auditors indicated they have not quite finished their work but that they consider discrepancies in the accounts unlikely.

Friends of Mitchell said Ledwith's check of the records had no part in the suicide motive. They said the cashier had suffered from heart trouble and had been despondent. Mitchell is survived by a wife and four children.

Merriam Tries To Pass The Relief "Buck"

what the latter items will run the remainder indefinite, but one thing is sure, and that is at the present rate of spending of $2,000,000 a month there is going to be a deficit of large proportions and the creation of an ominous situation; hence the burning desire all of a sudden by the governor to "pass the buck" to the governing bodies of the counties.

In a hazy way he held out the hope of borrowing from other funds to tide over the emergency but the words fell on deaf ears in view of the pronouncement of State Controller Riley that such action would be illegal and no more than the allotted sum of $34,000,000 could be spent for relief within the fiscal year.

The superior committee did a little floundering of its own on the side and came to the conclusion that once it assumed the administrative functions of the SRA it would at the same time in all probability also assume the financial responsibility attached thereto, which would mean that the State would get out from under the load and leave the counties holding the sack. A serious situation might thus be created as the counties have made no provision for such a

Bombing Plane Is Put Through Its Final Tests

LONDON, March 31.—A new single-engined bombing plane, described as the most formidable air weapon yet developed, is now being put through its final tests, Air Ministry officials disclosed today.

The plane is said to be capable of a speed of 300 miles an hour. It is said to be so fast and so advanced in range, carrying power and ease of maneuvering, that single-seater fighter planes will be practically useless against it.

Known as the Fairey "battle" medium bomber, it is powered with a new Rolls-Royce Merlin 12-cylinder engine, has a 54-foot wing span and an overall length of 42 feet 1 3/4 inches. Bombs are carried inside the wings.

Pilot and cannon are housed under a non-flammable "glass tunnel," which can be opened quickly for actual combat.

Every effort now is being made it is said, to safeguard details of construction of the new machine, production of which is already under way.

Retail trade showed practically no change from January. Building activity improved slightly, imports increased and exports declined.

Colored Artists Are To Appear Here This Month

OAKLAND, March 31.—The Federal Theater project gave their premier showing of "Plantation Days" at the City Club theater in Oakland last Friday and Saturday nights. This revue will now be booked into the other cities of Alameda and Contra Costa counties. The advance agents of the Federal Theater projects are now surveying all available locations where this showing can be made. The cities tentatively selected are, Livermore, Pittsburg, Martinez and Richmond.

The Oakland showing of "Plantation Days" met with such overwhelming success that repeat performances will be given again this Friday and Saturday nights April 3rd and 4th, to accommodate the large crowds that were unable to get seats. This presentation which has a clever cast of 25 colored artists and a ten piece colored band and a running time of two hours had to be extended an additional thirty-five minutes to accommodate all of the encores.

Mr. Everett Glass, executive supervisor of the Federal Theater project, states that the district served by this project includes all of Alameda and Contra Costa counties and will be taken on tour all over both counties right after Easter.

Mr. Roosevelt To Entertain British Officer

MIAMI, Fla., March 31.—President Roosevelt charted the U. S. S. Potomac to Nassau harbor today after placing $100,000 of work relief funds at disposal of the Committee for Industrial Cooperation for increasing private employment and improving labor standards.

He designated George Z. Berry to continue as coordinator and proposed conferences of representatives of "industry, investors, labor and consumers."

The President sent invitations to Sir Bede Clifford, Governor of the Bahamas; Lady Clifford, and their guests to a buffet luncheon aboard the Potomac today.

burden in their tax rates. However, the committee did agree, and unanimously, that the counties could without much effort make a better showing in administering the fund than the State has done, which has spent $400,000 a month in overhead in distributing $2,000,000 monthly in relief funds, which by simple arithmetic is 20 percent—and that is going some.

Chamber Says State Business "Held Its Own"

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—UP—Nearly all lines of business in California maintained their February, 1936, averages above 1935 levels for the same month last year the California State Chamber of Commerce reported today.

The chamber revealed a slight recession from January records. Employment in manufacturing industries decreased 3.7 percent from the January figures and total payrolls in the same industries declined 10 percent.

Farming operations were restricted by heavy rains, but farmers now report they have been able to prepare their land for late spring and early summer crops. Damage from frost during the week ended March 28 appeared to be much less than at first estimated, the chamber said.

Retail trade showed practically no change from January. Building activity improved slightly, imports increased and exports declined.

ANN MOTHER INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Hewitt's frail, 21 year old daughter filed suit for $500,000 damages against her mother, the two doctors, and Mrs. Mary Scally, San Francisco psychiatrist. Mrs. Scally was not named in criminal prosecution which followed investigation by police of the charges made by Ann.

DENIAL IS MADE

Ann charged her mother had her sterilized in a plot to gain control of a trust fund and a portion of the $2,000,000 estate left her by her father, Peter Cooper Hewitt, New York social scion and famed inventor. She insisted that she was unaware of the purpose or nature of the operation when it was performed.

Her mother replied in affidavits from New Jersey that the sterilization had been necessary, and denied any ulterior motive. The operation was intended partly to save Ann from "moral difficulties," she insisted. The doctors who performed the surgery also maintained that Ann definitely was shown to be a "high grade moron," with the mental age of an 11 year old girl—a charge vehemently denied by Ann and her attorney, Russell P. Tyler.
